Do I need to go through the HSRB?

Please use the below chart to determine whether or not you need to submit documentation of your research project to the HSRB. If you do need to submit documentation, refer to information available on the HSRB website to determine the type of documentation necessary (i.e., Self-Determination Form for exempt research or a full proposal for minimal-risk and at-risk research).

I am conducting research for a class (that I do not plan to present or publish) and there is minimal risk for participants

-OR-

I am conducting research on publicly available data or data that has been previously collected, there is no private identifying information about participants, no physiological measures, and no deception

You do not need to submit documentation to the HSRB

I am conducting research that I want to be able to present and/or publish (at something other than an undergraduate conference)

-OR-

I am conducting research that involves risk to participants

You do need to submit documentation to the HSRB
