Associate Provost for Engaged Learning

The Associate Provost for Engaged Learning serves as the chair for the Council on Engaged Learning Programs and facilitates the Council in the fulfillment of its formal charge. The Associate Provost will open lines of communication across the campus on issues of engaged learning and will seek to build partnerships between various programs that will enhance the learning outcomes of our students. At the broadest level, this will entail being attuned to how various campus programs and activities might be energized by being connected more deliberately to the project of engaged learning. One way to understand this work might be to think of it as broadening and deepening the initiative that began with the inception of the Odyssey Program to campus constituencies that are not formally connected to the Odyssey Program. In pursuit of this goal, the Associate Provost will be responsible for the assessment of engaged learning at Hendrix. Beyond the immediate Hendrix community, the Associate Provost will represent the College’s creative work in engaged learning to prospective students, parents, alumni, foundations, and other external constituents. The Associate Provost will thus work closely with the Provost and with the Office of Advancement in fostering Hendrix’s mission to be a national leader in engaged liberal learning.
Council on Engaged Learning Programs

The Council on Engaged Learning Programs is chaired by the Associate Provost for Engaged Learning and comprises the holders of the following positions:

- Director of the Odyssey Program
- Associate Director of the Odyssey Program
- Chair of the Committee on Experiential Learning
- Director of the Hendrix-Lilly Program
- College Chaplain
- Director of International Programs
- Director of Civic Engagement Projects (Project Pericles)
- Director of Hendrix-Murphy Programs
- Director of the Center for Entrepreneurial Studies
- Director of the Steel Center
- Director of the Library
- Director of Career Services
- Dean of Students
- Athletic Director
- Chair of Special Events
- Journeys Coordinator
- Explorations Coordinator

This group is charged with oversight, including coordination, funding, and policy development, of all engaged learning opportunities and programs at Hendrix College.

It is further charged with developing and monitoring assessment activities appropriate to the various kinds of experiences represented.