Amanda Meyer of Madison, Connecticut—“a 15-year-old-girl with a website, a summer of free time, and an astronaut for a hero” is trying to solve a dispute that has lasted 3 years over the 1961 Mercury space suit of Astronaut Gus Grissom. The family of Grissom has been trying to get it back while NASA insists on keeping it in the Astronaut Hall of Fame in Florida where it is considered “government property.”

Amanda Meyer, a co-captain of her school’s debate team and a space enthusiast, believes she has come up with a compromise. She says that the government does not have to give up its claim on the suit if it donates it to the Gus Grissom Memorial, which is located in his hometown of Mitchell, Indiana. Meyer came to this compromise after spending her summer writing an article calling NASA, the Smithsonian, the Astronaut Hall of Fame, and Congress. This week she is to meet with the government contractor in charge of the Astronaut Hall of Fame.

Gus Grissom wore the suit during his Mercury mission that landed in the ocean and sank when the hatch was opened prematurely. The family claims that Grissom rescued the suit from the trash, a claim that NASA denies. Meyers heard about the dispute when she sent Scott Grissom a copy of an essay she wrote on the astronaut. “Gus Grissom is my hero,” Meyer said. “I would like to see his memory commemorated as it should be.”

The suit’s fate will be decided at the end of the year. For now it will remain in the Smithsonian.

Phat Tuesday Kickoff

When: Tuesday Aug. 30th @ 7pm
Where: Galloway Parlor

Come experience Phat Tuesday and sign up for the free giveaway!
(Sign up in the sun porch)

Sponsored by Student Mobilization

“It has been reported that a man in California has developed a car that will go 250 miles on one gallon of gas. The man says he is going to start driving it as soon as he can save up enough money for one gallon.”
~Conan O’Brien

!! CORRECTION !!

In the August 25 issue, Sundaes on Wednesdays was advertised for August 31. The actual event date was August 24; there is no such event this week. The Table Talk editors apologize for any confusion or inconvenience.

“I think there should be something in Science known as the reindeer effect. I don’t know what it would be, but I think it would be good to hear someone say, ‘Gentleman, what we have here is a terrifying example of the reindeer effect.’”
~Jack Handy

HUMP NIGHT PRESENTS

Dance Dance REVOLUTION

Wednesday, Aug. 31
8:30 PM
The Burrow

Anime Fans Underground

First Meeting
Tuesday, August 30
7:00 P.M.- The Burrow

We’ll be voting on what we’d like to watch. Come and make your opinion known.
Communion begins Tuesday, August 30, 2005 from 4:15 to 4:30 in the Prayer Chapel in Greene Chapel.

For more information please contact the Chaplain's Office at 450-1263.

I have never made but one prayer to God, a very short one: “O Lord, please make my enemies ridiculous.” And God granted it.

~Voltaire

An invitation to all women who like to sing!
Join the Women’s Ensemble!

No audition required!
Rehearsals are Wednesday 4:10-6:00.

For more information contact fleming@hendrix.edu
OR attend the first meeting on Wednesday, August 31.

“The word ‘politics’ is derived from the word ‘poly’, meaning ‘many’, and the word ‘ticks’, meaning ‘blood sucking parasites.’” ~ Larry Hardiman
This week's Tuesday Talks guest speaker is:

Dr. Matt Moran

Everyone is welcome please bring your tray into the Hulen Ballroom.

For more information please contact the Chaplain's Office at 450-1263 or Hendrix Lilly at lilly@hendrix.edu.

You can't stay mad at someone who makes you laugh.

~ Jay Leno

---

Have you talked with your folks about 2005 Family Weekend yet?

Mark your calendar for September 23, 24, and 25.

It's the best time for your parents to spend quality time with their favorite Hendrix College student this fall.

We are not lost. We are locationally challenged.

~ John M. Ford

---

HEY!

CALLING ALL HUMANS THAT MOVE!

(DANCERS, ATHLETES, MUSICIANS, ACTORS, ARTISTS)

DANCE ENSEMBLE OPEN CALL

TUESDAY, AUGUST 30 @ 4:15 P.M. DANCE STUDIO

This meeting is for all interested in being in the Dance Ensemble, playing music for Dance Ensemble, collaborating with the Dance Ensemble, and hanging out with a really cool group of people.

Dance Ensemble will be a commitment all year for those signed up to take it. The meeting times will be Sunday 1-5 p.m. and Tuesday, 11-12 a.m. and 4:15-5:30 p.m. Anyone interested, with or without dance training can be in the ensemble. Auditions for dance pieces that will be choreographed and performed at the dance concert will occur at a later date.

There will be an "Open Call" meeting for anyone who is interested in Dance Ensemble - which can be dancing, playing music, collaborating on set design, etc. - Tuesday, August 30th at 4:15 p.m. in the dance studio.