‘Samurai Attacks Condiments’

In Jacksonville, FL— A samurai sword-buckling robber frightened the lunchtime crowd at a local eatery, sending condiments flying across the tables and getting away with $32.

Patrons of the Mudville Grill told police that the assailant enter the restaurant waving his sword and telling everyone that he was holding up the place.

Several people emptied their pockets and the man grabbed the cash. Then he fled with in a mini-van that he stole in a previous robbery which also included the sword.

Authorities said the man broke into the house, took the sword from the top of the television, and threatened the residents into giving him the van and $85.

A suspect has been identified but has not been arrested.
