

International TEFL (and more!) Resources

<https://www.peacecorps.gov/volunteer/what-volunteers-do/#education>

Education is the Peace Corps' largest program area. Volunteers play an important role in creating links among schools, parents, and communities. They may work in elementary, secondary, or post-secondary schools, teaching subjects such as math, science, or conversational English; or as resource teachers or teacher trainers. Volunteers also develop libraries and technology resource centers. You can earn your Teaching English as a Foreign Language (TEFL) certificate through the Peace Corps.

The English Teaching Assistant (ETA) Programs place Fulbrighters in classrooms abroad to provide assistance to the local English teachers. ETA's help teach English language while serving as cultural ambassadors for the U.S. The age and academic level of the students varies by country, ranging from kindergarten to university level. Applicants for English Teaching Assistant Programs can apply to only one country.

The Japan Exchange and Teaching (JET) Programme is a competitive employment opportunity that allows young professionals to live and work in cities, towns, and villages throughout Japan. Being a JET is an opportunity to work and to represent the United States as cultural ambassadors to Japan. Most participants serve as Assistant Language Teachers (ALTs) and work in public and private schools throughout Japan; some work as Coordinators for International Relations (CIRs) as interpreters/translators; and others work as Sports Exchange Advisors (SEAs) who promote international exchange through sports.

The National Volunteer Center, which is a branch of the English Opens Doors Program and is supported by the United Nations Development Programme-Chile, recruits native and near-native English speakers to work as teaching assistants in Chilean classrooms, specifically to improve students' listening and speaking skills. Volunteers also assist with other initiatives of the English Opens Doors Program, such as debates and English Camps. Volunteers teach and encourage the study of English while living with Chilean host families and interacting with members of the local community.

The Ameson Foundation is a non-profit, non-governmental organization committed to the advancement of cultural and educational exchange. Ameson Year in China is a unique opportunity for college graduates to spend a year serving as Educational Ambassadors who teach, learn, and make a difference at public schools across China. Some participants treat it as a way to launch a career abroad or as a language teacher; others think of it more as a gap year. Either way, you will experience the challenges and unique rewards of immersion in one of the world's fastest-developing economic and cultural landscapes.

Chinese Culture Center is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization with the mission is to foster understanding and cultural exchange between American and Chinese peoples. We are authorized and certified by the China National Bureau of Foreign Experts Affairs, a governing body that makes certain educational organizations that promote understanding and exchange are not scams. The Teach English in China – American Education and Culture Ambassador Program is our major program, which recruits and trains Americans to teach English or their majors in China – allowing them to provide a valuable service while learning about the Chinese culture and having the experience of a lifetime.
